Ranchi Declaration

(Adopted and Released at Ranchi on 11th August, 2018)

- Recognising the growth and development of mediation in India as a preferred method of resolving disputes;

- Recognising further that mediation has the potential to accommodate the specific needs of, and resolve disputes in tribal communities and other communities;

- Recognising also that mediation will facilitate autonomy in resolution of disputes by tribal and other communities;

- We resolve to take measures for study and research, empowerment, education and training, facilitating and conducting mediation in keeping with the culture and needs of tribal and other communities, and to establish mediation centres in every taluk, with the participation of members of the community.

Scanned by CamScanner